Uncoupling

It's all the rage. It's all the expectation that limitless choice can free us from the cage of boredom, petty grievance, and frustration.
But Tinder's buffet of pleasures can't assuage our tendency to slough off obligation, to banter, connect, deflect, then disengage rather than face that love is limitation, the beginning of our end. It's all the rage.
